Mr. Potatohead, DVIR

Assistant Dean of Students Kenn Johnson resigned last night after being arrested for streaking around Ball Circle at 11:30 pm.

"Johnson was quoted as saying,
"You have to be open about these things. It's better than bottling it up inside, now isn't it?"

It is expected that members of the administration will be surprised and disgusted when they hear of Johnson's behavior, since he has long been a vocal critic of Mary Washington College, saying the college is "too liberal and too hung up about the human body."

Top administrators, who have asked to remain nameless in the face of the storm of controversy, said only, "We are shocked and appalled at Dean Johnson's behavior.
We are surprised he has done something in the name of fun and good times, and we are especially concerned since he is working with an open mind and willing spirit.
These are both things we have worked long and hard to combat here at Mary Washington. Nudity in public is against the basic tenets of the college. Keep nudity in the classrooms and in the professor's bedrooms with their students, and it's o.k., but when you start bringing our Assistant Deans into the picture, that's something else."

These same administrators have chosen Moral Majority Leader Jerry Falwell to fill Johnson's shoes.
One source said he feels, "Falwell is the perfect man to finish some of the programs Johnson tried but couldn't get off the ground."

Included in these programs are 10:00 curfews for all students, classes segregated by sex, and chaperoned visitation.

This last is expected to be the hardest of the issues to push through. Top administrator Harry Organs said the program is to combat noise in the halls. "The nature of this noise is rather curious," Organs said. Organs would at first not expound on the problem, but when pressed said only, "We are getting more and more complaints from students about strange noises in the halls. RAs don't know what to make of the noises and since many of the noises are coming from RAs rooms, we are having a sticky time of it with these noises."

Organs said the noises ranged from wild loud screaming, to headboards banging against the walls to shouts of "Omigod, omigod, wait for me, wait for me." Organs, who has tended to be rather lax in the past is expected to stand erect and firm on this issue.

Johnson and Falwell have long been friends, and this has sparked some controversy. When asked if he minded Falwell taking over his position Johnson replied, "Jer is a great guy and can probably do a good job, if he'll work for a change."

Falwell is only quoted as saying, "I look forward to working with the progressive and forward looking administration at this college. We'll save the sorry bastards who go here if it kills us." Falwell specialists would not comment on the comment, saying only, "Falwell is a strange man," and "I don't know what the hell he's talking about." Falwell had a brief retort, which is not printable.

It is supposed that Falwell was referring to that crack assistant Dean of Students and interpreter of ABC laws Dottie White. White is famous at the college for working with a great deal of autonomy and always student in the interests of the student body. When asked if she would enjoy working with Falwell, White beamed and said, "Absolutely. I'll bounce some ideas off him. That's straight from the desk of Dean Gordon."

MWC Police Uncover Sex, Drug Ring

In a packed press conference at the Fredericksburg Sheraton last night, Mary Washington College Police Chief Pete Bishop announced that MWC's finest had cracked a Preppie sex and drug ring that circulated from Monroe Hall, to Jefferson to Russell.

Alumni chairman Charles prepp announced Saturday that this year's distinguished visitor in residence will be the world renowned vegetable, Mr. Potatohead.

Donning an extra nose on his head and wearing the characteristic huge blue plastic shoes, Potatohead looked in fine form for his press conference at the D.C.
Herbarium.

Mr. Potatohead will arrive at MWC in early February and most likely stay for five days. "I'm scheduled for three lectures, but there wouldn't be any problem with me adding a few more. I'm flexible," he said, interchanging his nose and right ear for emphasis.

During his stay at MWC Mr.
Potatohead will be giving lectures on a variety of topics, including "the wonderful spud," and "sex potatoes, and you."

Of primary importance during Potatohead's stay will be several advising sessions with the administration. In anticipation of his arrival, Suzanne Gordon, Dean of Students, exclaimed, "He's always been a hero of mine." Summing up with a point often made by students and faculty, Gordon noted, "There's no doubt that the administration could learn a great deal about running this school from Mr. Potatohead."

Commenting on his climb to stardom, Potatohead noted that it was a rough road to the top. "Twenty years ago I was a grubby root. People forget that. And there was an image problem from the start. It's hell being a spud and don't let anyone tell you different."

"Look what happened to Mr.
Carrothead and Mr. Tomatthead," he said, referring to his early rivals.
"They just didn't have the starch to stick it out."

Does Mr. Potatohead feel threatened in the limelight?
"There's always the possibility of some half-baked legume trying to do you in, but I don't dwell on it," he said, displaying surprising calm.
"No bodyguard?" we asked. "I've got eyes in the back of my head," quipped the witty tuber, steering back to a lighter tone.

Despite his jolly mood, there was evidence of strain from being on the road. Asked what was his favorite vegetable, Potatohead began laughing uncontrollably and shouting "carrots or peas, carrots or peas!" until he was led from the room by his press agent, who returned briefly to say that Mr.
Potatohead was only joking and had been listed in stable condition.

Mr. Potatohead promises to be one of MWC's most interesting distinguished visitors.

Students Storm Judicial

In an apparently successful coup last Wednesday night, the students of MWC ended their campus judicial system. The Campus Judicial Chairman and all of the J.C.'s have fled MWC. The BULLSHEET found the former Campus Judicial Chairman in Charlottesville. When asked what happened, she told us, "the students were tired of all of the rules and they took matters into their own hands." When asked how this affected her, the former Campus J.C. said, "I love it here in Charlottesville, being a UVA major priorities."

It is currently unknown what happened to the rest of the J.C.'s,

Suzanne Gordon Receives Award For Burlesque Performances

The following is a special to THE BULLET:

STOCKHOLM--Suzanne Gordon, famous burlesque and cinema star, arrived here three days ago to receive the famed and much sought after "Golden Scanty Panties Award."

Gordon, who has been offered the award before, but has always refused on grounds of protest, said, "Well, I might as well, people just won't leave me and Sweet Cheeks alone."

"Sweet Cheeks," the famous Russian-ballet star the world knows as Rudolf Nureyev, had no comment when he and Gordon left the ship here in the port of Oldfrewonk. However, he was later quoted as saying, "Suzanne and I have a completely open relationship. I know that she is the most beautiful and honest, warm person I have met. I am completely satisfied in every sense of the world."

Soviet Press officials seemed concerned over Nureyev's dubious Pseudonym and his less than Swedish Golden Scanty Panties Burlesque Award, to be awarded to Suzanne Gordon for meritorious service above and beyond the call of booty.

perfect mastery of English, but Gordon said "I don't keep him around for English."

Gordon and Nureyev left the ship for their suite in the Stockholm Hilton three days ago and have not been heard from since. Nureyev blushed as they were leaving, but Gordon mused his hair, slapped him on the rear end, and pushed him into the cab, saying "He's such a saucy little boy." Her press agent Tom Foolery is not commenting on the statement at this time. Speculation in Stockholm is guarded but optimistic about Gordon's relationship and future with this saucy little boy, "Sweet Cheeks Nureyev."

The "Golden Panties Award," which was started by the famous forerunner of modern burlesque, "Angel Drawers Nelson," has a history as interesting as the award itself.

It would seem the award found its genesis in a rather dubious way when Nelson had a heated argument with her director on the set of "Our Man in El Paso," her most recent film (1924). After the argument, which centered around Nelson's insistence that her "bodyguard," Horse-man Ricardo be allowed to sleep in her dressing room, Nelson had her director's shorts bronzed. Unfortunately he was in them at the time.

The original "Bronze Panties Award" was changed to the "Golden Scanty Panties Award" in 1971 when the then reigning queen of cinema burlesque "Dimple Hips Wilson" had a hernia carrying the bronzed panties off the stage of the Plaza Hotel dining room in New York. The problem centered around the fact that until 1971 directors were still in the panties when they were bronzed. "Bronzed directors are very heavy, you know," said Wilson from her oxygen tent in New York Central Hospital immediately after the banquet.

Gordon and "Sweet Cheeks" are expected to stay at the Stockholm Hilton until Friday, when they will fly to London where Nureyev will perform in "The Nutcracker" for Prince Charles and Lady Diana.
From there they are expected to fly to Fredericksburg where they will take a short vacation.

Heartfelt thanks from Luke and Laura

To the Editor:

We just want to recognize our loyal fans at Mary Washington College. It's always refreshing to see just how popular "General Hospital" is. Like the rest of the country, MWC was probably angry that we were cancelled on the days that Pope John Paul II and Ronald Reagan were shot. We even heard that more people talked about our wedding than about the shooting of Anwar Sadat. But what you don't know is that we were responsible for all three events. We figure we can confess because you wouldn't dare have us arrested. If we were, then you couldn't get your daily "GH" fix—and that's more important than the real world isn't it? Like we said, it's good to know what kind of fans we've got.

Condescendingly yours, Luke and Laura

Rolling Stones to appear in Pub

To the Editor:

As I'm sure you know, the petitions of the Washington-Maryland-Virginia area residents brought our clients, The Rolling Stones, to the Capital Center. But something amazing occurred when we looked at the petitions—there was one that was signed by every single MWC student! We assure you, such devotion will not go unrewarded. We've worked out a deal for the Stones with the Assistant Dean of Students to perform every single evening in the Pub next semester. That's right—she can fire her DJ's (who needs "Stars on 45" when you can have stars that will soon be 45?) And all it will cost will be a $.50 increase in the price of a pitcher of beer—and a $200 increase in tuition. We figure by the time graduation rolls around, they'll have made about nine or ten million dollars. Not bad from 2500 students. So you see, loyalty pays (for us!). You've earned our unending gratitude, and guaranteed our unending wealth!

Sincerely,
The Advertising Agency of Ketchum, Hookum and Cheatum

Marines are people not sex tools

To the Editor:

I am writing on behalf of the gentlemen who live at Quantico Marine Base, just 20 minutes from Mary Washington College.

These men are coming to my office in increasing numbers with tears in their eyes and their hearts broken. We cannot have a dance for these young men here without some of your young female hooligans coming up to Quantico, getting drunk, hooting and hollering out the windows of their cars and even accosting some of the men who call this their home.

This was brought to my attention by one young marine who came to my office, his shirt in tatters, tears streaming down his face, his hat stolen and his shoes scuffed. He had obviously been accosted on the street. Don't these women see that men are not sex objects?

All that could go through my mind is a woman taking this sweet young, innocent and naive man out to dinner and then forcing her way either into his barracks or apartment and having her way with him.

Women are all alike— you take us out to dinner and then you think we owe you something. This is one soldier who will not stand for it any more. I am tired of being pinched on the butt, cat called, and being mentally undressed.

Please bring this problem to the attention of your readers. WE ARE PEOPLE, NOT SEX TOOLS.

Weinstock Promotes Radical Change; Registration Time Cut to 48 hours

by WYNTHIA SILKINSON

Associate Dean for Academic Services, Roy B. Weinstock, announced today his new plan for registration. While Weinstock is pleased with the absence of lines during registration for spring semester, he feels the new plan will alleviate some problems.

Weinstock proposed that the registration period be cut from two weeks to 48 hours. "That way," said Weinstock, "students, faculty, and staff will not have to put up with this mess for such a long time." Weinstock said that students will be assigned time slots of one minute to complete their registration. "If they aren't finished in one minute," said Weinstock, "they'll just have to take what they've got."

The first day of registration will be for declared majors, and the second reserved for undeclared majors. Armed campus police will patrol the lines to make sure students are registering properly. "Students attempting to register before their time slots will be dealt with immediately," assured Weinstock.

The Office of Student Records will be open around the clock to handle the new plan. When asked about the proposal, one staff member simply kept repeating "48 hours" and refused to answer the question.

Weinstock said George Washington Hall will be open and the students should feel free to "camp out" for the 48-hour period. "Remember, if you miss your minute, that's it," said Weinstock. "We have too many students here anyway," he added.

Weinstock is eager to see how his new program will work out. "I don't want to hear any complaints from students," he warned. "This is my job and I'll do whatever I want to."

Burns Apprehended for Stealing Bicycle Seats

Bringing to an end the recent rash of bicycle seat thefts experienced all over campus, Vice-President for Academic Affairs Mary Ann T. Burns, has been apprehended by units of the Mary Washington peace-keeping force.
Swearing that he's "Disgusted by the whole incident," Police Chief Pete Bishop announced that the person most responsible for bringing the culprit to ground was Sophomore John Burgum. According to a deposition by Burgum: "I had just gotten out of a conference with Dean Burns and I mounted my bicycle and had gone a few hundred yards when I noticed that I was too comfortable. I looked down and sure enough my leather seat was gone!" Burgum was incensed at this heinous crime, and hastily reported it to the police.
Bishop, who had received similar reports of late, immediately traced Burgum's course during the day and concluded that only Dean Burns could be responsible.

Bishop and two officers decided to lay a trap for Burns and for a total of three days they left new Schwinn ten-speed bicycles near the door to Burns' office. From their vantage place behind a small shrub down the hall, the officers engaged in an intensive surveillance procedure. On the third day, the bait was taken, and Bishop states that he will produce "Twenty-seven eight-by-ten color glossy pictures with circles and arrows and a paragraph on the back of each one, explaining what each one is" in court. Apparently, Burns refrained from going after the seats before as she believed that someone was watching her. At any rate, the officers arrested her as she applied a butane torch to the frame of a bicycle, in an attempt to remove the seat.

The resignation of Burns is expected to reach the President's desk later today, but for the moment she maintains her privileges and has been seen carrying shoe-box size containers one by one to the trunk of her car. In a perhaps related matter, Chief Bishop says there is little hope of recovering the stolen seats.

Sue Zehener, a victim of Dean Burn's bicycle theft. "It makes me absolutely sick to my stomach. What is that woman doing with my seat?"

CPB Finally Gets Deserved Credit

In an unprecedented move today, MWC spokesman Harry Organs awarded the College Programming Board the distinguished and much sought after "You're The Greatest Award" for being the most important organization on campus.

"The CPB is an asset to the college," Organs said, "and should not be underestimated. The fact that we got along just fine without them for years should have no bearing on the fact that we really cannot live without them now."

Andi Jansen, who holds the prestigious position of chairman of the College Programming Board, said "We're just tickled pink." Jansen went on to say, "We're trying to be just like Washington and Lee University." Jansen added, giggling, "I think if I can just go up there a few more weekends I'll have the routine down pat."

When asked exactly what "routine" she was referring to, Jansen, who is known for her disarming and charming nature, simply blushed and turned demurely away.

John Hoffman, member of the board and president of the Association of Residence Halls, said, "The CPB is made up of a real fun bunch of people with a great sense of humor. I really feel they are serving the college as best they can."

When asked to elucidate on exactly what the CPB does, Hoffman said, "I don't really know, but I'm sure they must be important, they have a lot of fun at meetings. I do know you wouldn't want to put these people in positions of real authority, though."

Student Association President, member of the CPB and Harrison Ford look alike Michael Bennett, said of the CPB, "Come on, give us a break. We have to sit in a smoke filled room, hear about every stupid club on campus, and follow Robert's Goddamn rules of order.

Now THAT's straight from the desk of Dean Gordon."

The "You're The Greatest Award," which has never been awarded before was handed down on a memo which experts say was straight from the desk of Dean Gordon.

PALMIERI TO GO TO HELL

Professor Richard Palmieri, "Dick" to his friends and, curiously enough, to his enemies as well, has announced that he is following the recommendations of faculty and students alike and will be leaving shortly on a sabbatical. The purpose of this academic leave of absence became apparent when the ever scholarly Palmieri stated that his study area would be the environs of the infernal region. While noting that little or no scholarship has been directed towards this particular area, Palmieri is confident that so many people can't be wrong, and that it will be the perfect place for him.

BOZO THE CLOWN TO REPLACE PALMIERI

Admitting that the choice for replacing the soon to be gone Professor Palmieri was at best an unorthodox one, Dean Weinstock stated that given Palmieri's classroom style, the reason for the decision became very apparent. Shedding his familiar blue, red and white garb for an aquamarine seersucker suit, Mr. Clown seemed ready to fill the shoes of Dr. Palmieri with embarrassing ease.

KEPLEY HUNG IN EFFIGY

The young ladies of Virginia residence hall, claiming they didn't care what Campus Judicial Chairman Libba Kepley's priorities might be, hung Miss Kepley in effigy on the steps of their hall. This was reported to be a response to Kepley's revocation of Virginia's visitation privileges, which was precipitated by the discharge of fire extinguishers for reasons other than to douse fires.

KEPLEY AND DEAN JOHNSON HUNG IN EFFIGY

Following the ungodly gathering that took place on the decimated grounds, hallways and bedrooms of Hamlet House after the WO-MAN Contest last month, a letter of reprimand was sent to the residents of said den of iniquity. Faced with the prospect of administrative displeasure, the residents and their guests claimed complete ignorance when charged with burning two straw-stuffed mannequins on the steps of Hamlet House. Jim Pierpoint, on being awakened, said, "Uhh... I was in the library," and the other residents responded similarly except for Mike Bennett, who apologized for being late and explaining that "it's really hard to vacuum straw out of the carpet."

VINCE COMBS CONVERTS TO ZEN BUDDHISM

Swearing off all horrid smelling, cheap cigars, Westmoreland Residence Hall Director and resident fruitcake Vince Combs has announced his intentions to renounce his faith and become a practicing Zen Buddhist. Admitting that this was a very weird course action for him to take, Combs says that the two years of grief over his cigars and his perturbing habit of opening doors and letting forth an intestinal emission have led him to a spiritual rebirth. He feels that his new-found peace and serenity will contribute much to life in Westmoreland.

KRICKUS TO TEACH NEW COURSE

Announcing plans to consolidate his course schedule from four three-credit courses into one twelve credit class instructed once a week, Professor of Political Science Richard Krickus expects the new idea to catch on and become one of Mary Washington's more popular courses. Krickus states that the new course will consist solely of excerpts from the latest issues of Time magazine and the in-depth political analysis sections of the Richmond Times Dispatch. Commenting on these two publications' awesome worth in the field of International Affairs, Krickus hopes that the material will not be "above the heads of my students." The course will begin at eight a.m. Monday morning and will continue through the day until ten p.m. Monday evening with an hour break for lunch at noon and a dinner break from six to seven. Krickus, in a rare burst of jocularity, has titled the course "Political Bovine Fecal Matter."

DAN STEEN TO REPLACE RICHARD DAWSON

"Family Feud" game-show host Richard Dawson, after announcing plans to retire, has named S.A. Whip Dan Steen as his replacement on the perennially high-rated television show. Saying that Steen has "just the right combination of boyish charm and cut-throat brutality," Dawson feels confident in leaving "his baby" in Steen's hands. This, of course, runs contrary to campus-wide opinion that Steen is a wolf in sheep's clothing.

CLARK LITTLE JOINS FRATERNITY

Citing reasons such as "I'm really pissed off," and "It doesn't matter to me," and "I don't know what I'm doing here," senior and renowned mental midget Clark Little recently stated that he had formed and joined his own fraternity. Despite the unwillingness of any other Mary Washington male to join him in this venture, Little remains undeterred and maintains that "At Hampden-Sydney people weren't anything like this, and I just..." and more verbiage of that nature. Graduating in May, Little hopes to enter into a career at Wheat First Securities as an account executive or at Taco Bell as a shell-bender.

Jesus Saves! Esposito Scores On The Rebound

by JOHN HOFFMAN

Landover Md.-Steve Esposito's tip in off a Mike Gartner slapshot lifted the Washington Capitals to a 1-0 decision over God, Friday night at the Capital center. With 3:47 remaining in the final period, Esposito, son of Boston great Phil Esposito lifted the puck over goalie Jesus Christ's glove and into the right corner of the goal. This proved to be the winner in a hard fought contest in which the Capitals out-shot God 31-25.

The goal came after God had just killed off a penalty to St. Peter for hooking and seemed to be rallying. "They just weren't as good as they were against the Russians" commented Cap winger Denis Maruk. "I was slashed a couple times by St. John but all considered it was a pretty clean game. In the visitor's locker room however, there was a definite air of bitterness. The Refs gave away the game said St. Basil, coach of the Holy team since 1973." St. George alone was called for 12 minutes in penalties, "the coach, St. George's wild plumed boos from the crowd sometimes as he repeatedly swung stick high above his head in previous attempts to injure Cap

Overall, the 1981 tour has been disappointing for religious fanatics everywhere, leaving with a 2-4-1 record.

Goolrick Closed to Students

Goolrick Hall, for years now home of the MWC athletic porters, has now officially closed for certain members of MWC student body. All students who either a. do not play a varsity sport, or b. have a 3.0 or below GPA are from now barred from Goolrick.

"I think it's just great," athletic supporter director Head. "I have always followed teachings of Mr. Jefferson and views on physical fitness."

Thomas Jefferson, BULLSHEET asked? "Hell roared Head. "I meant Washington Jefferson, my oldy from the Marines." Well, happy for you, Head.

The BULLSHEET then went to find out how the admission felt about the new rule Goolrick. We could find no GW who had been in Goolrick 1966. We all know it is a long from GW to Goolrick.

The opinion was somewhat different with the students. "It is the greatest thing to happen MWC since Ed Head came," said MWC junior Jock Shot play basketball and I will be among those people out who belong there."

"Like who, Jock?" we asked. "All of those little preppy and all of those guys who use big words no one can understand."

So this is how it will be Head and the rest of the minded people of this campus. Well, the BULLSHEET says, bye, we certainly will not be
